Writing paper (creative writing):

- You will be given time to plan your creative writing one lesson before the test.
- Look back over AW1 and AW2 feedback to see what areas you need to focus on to improve marks for his assessment.
- You get marked on how engaging your writing is- your writing should have language features in it (similes, metaphors etc.)

- You will be marked on your spelling, punctuation, and grammar. Remember to read over your work at the end of the test so that you don't make easy mistakes.

Practice activities

Reading

How does the writer present egg farming in this advert? Answer in PEE

This hen is imprisoned in a battery cage. She will spend her lifetime unable to build a nest, scratch at the ground or even flap her wings. Deprived of exercise and forced to lay many more eggs than natural, her body will degenerate. She will suffer from brittle bones, which may cause them to snap like twigs. When worn out, she will be ripped from her cage for slaughter.

Modern egg-farming solves the riddle of which comes first, the chicken or the egg. It's the egg, every time.

Eggs may be meat-free but egg farming is far from bloodless.

Writing

Write a story with the title "Until the rain came" or with the first sentence as "Suddenly, the sky turned black..."
